

CASACOR / MIAMI

D' APOSTROPHE DESIGN INC.

Francis D'Haene, a Belgian-born, New York City-based architect and designer, founded D'Apostrophe Design, Inc. in 1996. With a residential and commercial focus, his design studio specializes in architectural, interior and furniture design. D'Haene's discerning clientele includes design-savvy homeowners, art dealers and gallerists such as Christophe van de Weghe, Per Skarstedt, Dominique Levy and Stellan Holm. His work for this venerable list includes New York City apartments and lofts, private homes in the Hamptons and gallery spaces in Chelsea and uptown.

"The architecture and interiors of D'Apostrophe Design are characterized by a mixture of simplicity and sensuality with a preference for primary forms. Our design is an outcome of progressive refinement, in which materials are used to curate space and movement, that are then accentuated by composing objects and art. We are simple, clear, pure, silent, polished, minimal and relaxed."

D'apostrophe design is a team of 15 architects and designers, based primarily in New York and LA. Current projects include apartment renovations in New York, houses in the Hamptons and LA and a restaurant in Chicago. Over 20 years' experience in architecture, interior design and real estate acquisitions. Internationally awarded for outstanding achievement in commercial design. Skilled in leading and managing large teams on all aspects of multifaceted projects from inception through delivery. Wide array of experience in architectural disciplines from classical to modern.

WWW.DAPOSTROPHE.COM

